

WOMEN'S SC SOCCER

coach morris

Justin Morris finished his playing career as a Warrior at Sterling College. In the summer of 1999 he was hired as the men's and women's coach at Sterling. Morris coached both teams until December 2006 when he decided to focus on the women's program.

In the 2005 season Morris coached both the Warriors and Lady Warriors to the best record in school history. That season the Warriors qualified for the NAIA Region IV Tournament for the first time in school history. Following the season Morris was named the KCAC Women's Coach of the Year.

Morris led the men's team to the NAIA Region IV Tournament again in '06, reaching the semifinals. The women's team made it to the Region IV quarterfinals in '06. Morris was recognized as the 2006 NAIA Region IV Men's Coach of the Year.

"Coach Morris takes us to a level of play that we can't take ourselves to. He helps us to see what we can't to better us and prepare us. He has helped us to work less as individuals and more as a team. We have learned from him, grown from him, and have learned to win from him."

scholarships

A Christian college education is expensive, but it is an investment in your future. Every student at Sterling receives a scholarship. We have a financial aid staff that will work with you to make a Sterling education an affordable reality.

Come. Grow. Change the World. is an academic, spiritual, and personal motto at Sterling College. It is for the SC soccer program as well.

COME: We want quality players who will help us compete for the top spot in the conference and, ultimately, on the national level. But Sterling Soccer is more than a team; it's a family. Chemistry is critical. Our players must be committed to discipline, excellence, and a team-first mentality.

GROW: We want to strive for success NOT to bring glory to ourselves but to God—our Creator, who made us to be soccer players. Soccer represents a discipline and a commitment that, in some ways, mimics our spiritual formation. Growth on the field should contribute to growth in faith and life.

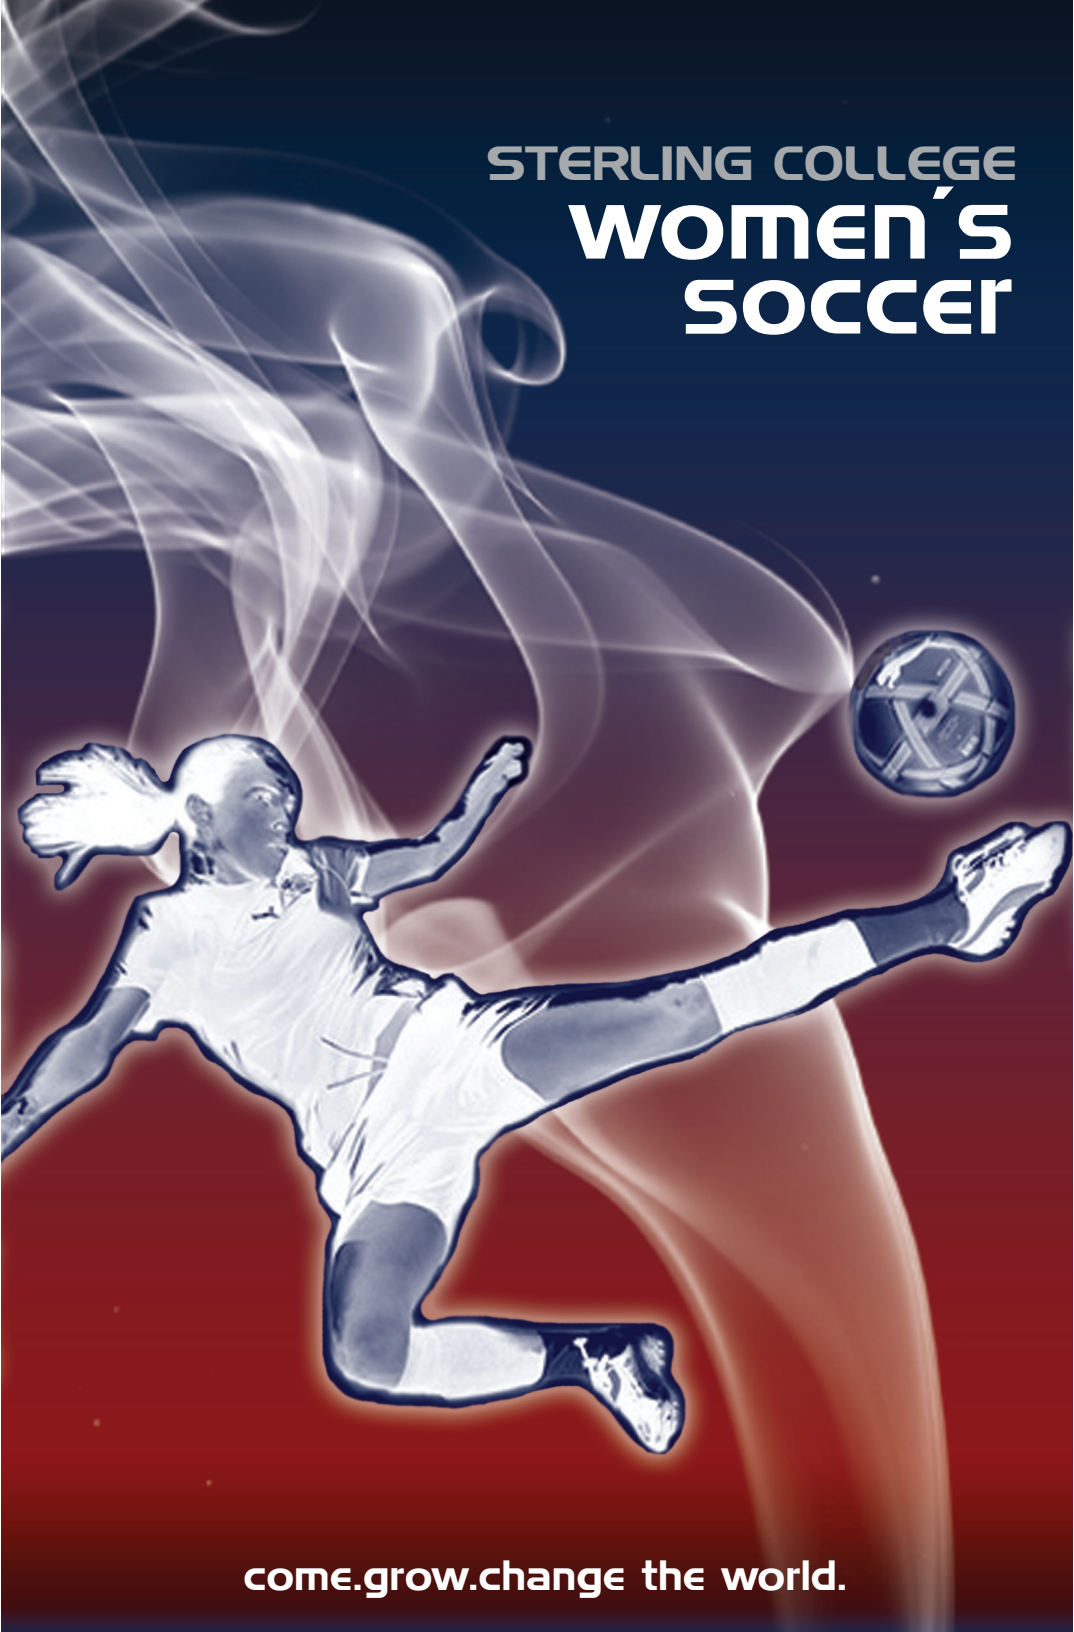

CHANGE THE WORLD: The end goal of our program is not wins and losses—those are, in a sense, by products. The end goal is women who are equipped to be better leaders in their workplace, in their marriages and families, in their churches—women of God.

"I thought I was coming to Sterling College to play soccer and get my degree, but I was in for a rude awakening. Sterling College shook me, broke me, and mended me into the person I am today. It's all thanks to a great coaching staff, foster parent program and the lifelong friends I made. I walked away from Sterling a new person. God truly molded me into the woman I am today and I am forever grateful for that. Soccer was my foot in the door to a wonderful place that I now consider my second home."
